WELCOME

Welcome to the World Arena Ice Hall (WAIH). As a participant in the WAIH and the Colorado Springs Skating Community, you are part of an elite group of athletes, parents and coaches with a long tradition of excellence and professionalism. No one athlete, coach or organization operates in isolation. In fact, one of the biggest strengths of the WAIH Ice Program is its strong partnerships with U.S. Figure Skating and the Broadmoor Skating Club. Collaboration and sportsmanship are required for success.

This handbook has been developed as a resource for Coaches, Athletes and Parents who participate in our figure skating programs. It offers helpful information as you progress in your training and provides contacts for additional information.

PARTNER ORGANIZATIONS

World Arena Ice Hall

www.broadmoorworldarena.com/icehall

The World Arena Ice Hall is one of the finest training facilities in the world. It is a high-altitude, multi-purpose sports facility that provides elite-level services for emerging athletes. The complex is home to dozens of world-class figure skaters and coaches, the Broadmoor Skating Club and the Division I Colorado College Men's Hockey team. The World Arena Ice Hall works with national governing bodies and other partner organizations in developing and offering skating programs that provide an effective training environment for athletes, a collaborative atmosphere for their coaches and camaraderie and support for both athletes and coaches.

Broadmoor Skating Club

The Broadmoor Skating Club and the Broadmoor World Arena have a long history of partnership. The BWA and Ice Hall are the principal skating headquarters of the BSC. The BSC purchases no ice for its members, except for tests, exhibitions and events, and does not contract the coaches who teach its members. Coaches and athletes purchase the ice from the BWA and the BWA contracts its coaches as independent contractors. BWA and Ice Hall staff also schedule all figure skating ice in the Ice Hall. The BSC is a non-profit organization. The BSC provides figure skating expertise and is the link between figure skating athletes and U.S. Figure Skating.

U.S. Figure Skating

www.usfigureskating.org

BWA GUIDELINES FOR CHANGING COACHES

From time to time, skaters may find it best to seek a different coach. As a professional courtesy, when a coach is involved in a coaching change, those coaches affected should correspond with all parties involved both verbally and in written form. The correspondence should include ending date of the current relationship and the status of payments/monies owed, if any.

To avoid conflicts, the new coach will ensure the above conditions have been met and a copy of the correspondence acknowledged by both coaches will be on file with both coaches as well as the facility.

CHANGING COACHES

*By Kathy Casey, World and Olympic Figure Skating Coach
Reprinted courtesy of U.S. Figure Skating*

Discussing changing coaches is not an easy task. It is a sensitive and difficult issue for everyone involved, and the closest thing to relate it to is a divorce. Lack of communication is a big contributing factor to a coaching change. When communication breaks down between the coach, skater and parents, emotions start to get tense. Weeks before a coaching change happens, all parties generally feel that things are not right.

There are many reasons why skaters decide to move on:

- Parents think the coach is favoring other skaters
- Past year competition results are mediocre
- Coach is not qualified to take the skater further
- Parents have unreasonable expectations for their child
- Personality conflicts
- Coach does not like the skater anymore
- Skater just needs a change

Parents need to make sure that their reasons for changing coaches are in the skater's best interest. When the time comes to change coaches, give it another 90 days to make sure your decision is right. During this time, everyone involved should make every effort to improve things through open communication and positive change. If all else fails, it is time to change. The coach should be the first person notified. Changing coaches is a personal matter so actions and feelings should be kept private. Changes generally do not happen without hurt feelings.

If a coaching change must happen, have a face-to-face meeting with all parties involved. It should last no longer than 15-20 minutes. Honesty and sincerity are important. The reasons for changing coaches should be discussed, but don't bring up heated issues from the past. At the time of the meeting, all lesson and rink bills should be paid. Kindly thank the coach for everything he or she has done for the skater, smile and wish them well. The meeting is over.

It is a good idea for the new coach to speak with the old coach before any lessons are given. It is imperative that the Professional Skaters Association Code of Ethics is strictly adhered to by all parties.

WHEN CHANGING COACHES DO NOT:

- Leave a message on the coach's answering machine
- Send an email

U.S. OLYMPIC & PARALYMPIC
TRAINING SITE
WORLD ARENA ICE HALL

- Say nothing and start taking lessons from another coach
- Go to the coach's home uninvited
- Be confrontational
- Send a nasty letter
- Have the new coach send the old coach a fax
- Create a scene at the rink

While coaching changes are one of the most unpleasant parts of the sport, it has happened (or will happen!) to every coach at every level. The best advice for all parties is to get over it. Look at the positive things our sport has to offer and enjoy the ride. Realize that the grass is not always greener on the other side and sometimes skaters find a coaching change a positive move, other times they find it a negative experience.

ICE HALL COACHES CODE OF CONDUCT

The Broadmoor World Arena (BWA) strives to offer an environment and atmosphere that is conducive to providing athletes and coaches the opportunity to maximize their training and performance.

The basic rules, ideals, and codes of conduct adopted by the Professional Skaters Association are used as guiding principles for World Arena Ice Hall coaches and serve as our ground rules for professionalism and framework of coach conduct.

The privilege of coaching at the BWA facilities is subject to and dependent on a coach observing and abiding by all policies, procedures, rules and protocols (whether written or otherwise expressed) established by BWA, including this Code of Conduct. A coach agrees to this by accepting the privilege of using BWA facilities and understands that conduct in violation of this Code of Conduct or otherwise in violation of any policies, procedures, rules and protocols of BWA may result in full or partial forfeiture of coaching privileges at BWA facilities.

Without limiting any of the foregoing, the following are examples of the conduct to be exemplified by a coach:

- A coach will exercise professionalism, care and discretion in their relationships and interaction with their students, other coaches, the students of other coaches, parents, patrons of BWA facilities and BWA staff.
- A coach will act with dignity, ethics and high moral conduct.
- Coaches will be civil and courteous to all with whom they come in contact and maintain collegial relationships with other coaches, parents and staff.

U.S. OLYMPIC & PARALYMPIC
TRAINING SITE
WORLD ARENA ICE HALL

- At all times a coach's conduct will be governed by principles of honesty, integrity, safety, and sportsmanship.
- A coach will act in a manner which demonstrates respect for rules under which skaters' train and compete, and that will preserve integrity and safety for all.
- A coach will at all times be mindful that they lead by example, are a role model for their students, have a responsibility to influence their students in a positive and productive manner, and never encourage improper behavior by their students.
- A coach will act in a manner which avoids verbal or physical abuse of any skater, coach, official, parent, staff member or other patron of BWA.
- A coach will not conduct lessons or teach in groups unless it is on a specific session (specialty class) that encourages group participation.
- A coach will not engage in any course of conduct designed to harass or intimidate another coach, skater, parent, staff member or other patron of BWA.
- A coach will at all times avoid conflicts of interest which can be considered to exist at any time when the action of the coach involves obtaining an improper advantage.
- A coach acknowledges that from time-to-time a student with whom they work may leave them and seek coaching elsewhere. The coach will cooperate with the other coaches when conflicts arise, and will be willing to make such changes on behalf of the student which will further compliment the student's performance and progress.
- A coach shall keep their students and parents of their students well informed and involved, yet avoiding emotional attachments in the decision-making process that may impact a testing situation.
- A coach will honor any and all promises or commitments, whether verbal or in writing, and will strive to build a reputation for dignity, honesty and integrity.
- A coach will not make groundless accusations of impropriety or attribute bad motives to other coaches or skaters in bad faith or without good cause.
- A coach will never allow race, gender, religion, age or other legally protected classifications of persons to improperly motivate any action.
- A coach will immediately report all injuries to the Ice Hall Administrative Office.

A coach has primary responsibility to address and resolve concerns and conflicts that arise between them and their skaters or other coaches, and to openly communicate in a productive manner with BWA staff regarding conflicts that arise. A coach will encourage their student (and the parents of their students) to resolve conflicts without resorting to hostility, disruptive behavior or violence. A coach understands that BWA will not tolerate any disruption of its functions or of its staff, including any conduct that infringes on the well-being of others or use of BWA facilities by others.

BWA will use reasonable efforts as necessary, and under the appropriate circumstances, to address concerns and resolve issues as they arise. However, BWA reserves the right to remove from BWA facilities any coach, skater, parent of a skater, or spectator (including family members) whose conduct is in violation of any policies, procedures, rules or protocols established by BWA. BWA also reserves the right to temporarily or permanently suspend, deny or revoke the privilege of any such person(s) to use BWA facilities or to enter upon BWA grounds.

- To retain residency with an injury, the office must be contacted ASAP and receive a doctor's note describing the injury. Upon return, the office must receive a release from the doctor.
- If Resident Status is forfeited more than one time, that individual will not be eligible for Resident Status going forward.

If you do not meet the criteria as listed, you cannot contract ice until Thursday. If you submit your request prior to Thursday your request will be denied. Residency Criteria must be met on or before March 1st of the current year to be considered a Resident for Summer Contracting.

ICE HALL SKATERS CODE OF CONDUCT

The Broadmoor World Arena (BWA) strives to offer an environment and atmosphere that is conducive to providing athletes and coaches the opportunity to maximize their training and performance.

The privilege of skating at the BWA facilities is subject to and dependent on a skater observing and abiding by all policies, procedures, rules and protocols (whether written or otherwise expressed) established by BWA from time-to-time, including this Code of Conduct. A skater agrees to this by accepting the privilege of using BWA facilities and understands that conduct in violation of this Code of Conduct or otherwise in violation of any policies, procedures, rules and protocols of BWA may result in full or partial forfeiture of skating privileges at BWA facilities.

Without limiting any of the foregoing, the following are examples of matters to be taken into account by skaters and conduct to be exemplified by a skater.

Regardless of a skater's level of skill, there are elements of risk and inherent dangers in ice skating. It is important to use common sense, show courtesy to others and anticipate dangerous situations before they arise.

Right of Way:

- A skater or team whose program is being played and is wearing the sash (teams exempt if a safety issue) has the right of way.
- Always yield the right of way to the skater wearing the sash and performing their program.
- The skater wearing the sash needs to be aware of others on the ice including coaches.

Flow of Ice:

- Continue to move – standing still means someone may need to move around you which may lead to an accident

Specific Conduct:

- Keep your head up – be aware of other skaters around you
- If you are not skating, leave the ice
- The players' bench area is for coaches and athletes on the session only
- Except for Specialty or Group Classes, do not skate in groups
- Do not stop where others are skating
- No roughness, unnecessary aggressiveness or buzzing
- Stay off the ice when resurfacing or maintenance is in progress
- Exit sessions on time
- Be courteous and sportsman-like both on and off the ice

- Be considerate of others - if you see that another skater does not see you coming, be aware and move
- Apologize when you accidentally get in someone else's way
- Do not use abusive or foul language
- Do not bring any items, such as cameras, purses, food or beverage on the ice
- One ear bud is allowed. However, an athlete will get one warning if they can't pay attention to the session due to having an ear bud in. The ability to wear an ear bud will be lost if the problem persists. No over the ear headphones are allowed.
- No kicking or gouging the ice or dasher boards
- Immediately report all injuries to the BWA Administrative Office
- Immediately report unsportsmanlike conduct to your coach and BWA staff

General Conduct:

- Skaters will be civil and courteous to all with whom they come in contact and maintain collegial relationships with other skaters, coaches, parents and staff.
- A skater will exercise good judgment and discretion in their relationships and interaction with other skaters, coaches, parents, patrons of BWA facilities and BWA staff.
- At all times a skater's conduct will be governed by principles of honesty, integrity, safety and sportsmanship.
- A skater will act in a manner which demonstrates respect for rules under which skaters train and compete that will preserve integrity and safety for all.
- A skater will act in a manner which avoids verbal or physical abuse of any skater, coach, official, parent, staff member or other patron of BWA.
- A skater will not engage in any course of conduct designed to harass or intimidate another coach, skater, parent, staff member or other patron of BWA.
- A skater will not make groundless accusations of impropriety or attribute bad motives to other skaters or coaches in bad faith or without good cause.

Dress Code:

- Male Skaters: Shirts are required at all times.
- Female Skaters: Crop tops are acceptable provided they are no more than 2" above the belly button.

Skaters understand that a coach has primary responsibility to address and resolve concerns and conflicts that arise between them and skaters or other coaches, and to openly communicate in a productive manner with BWA and staff regarding conflicts that arise. A coach is obligated under the BWA Coaches Code of Conduct to encourage their students (and the parents of their students) to resolve conflicts without resorting to hostility, disruptive behavior or violence. BWA will not tolerate any disruption of its functions or of its staff, including any conduct that infringes on the well-being of others or use of BWA facilities by others.

BWA will use reasonable efforts as necessary, and under the appropriate circumstances, to address concerns and resolve issues as they arise. However, BWA reserves the right to remove from BWA facilities any coach, skater, parent of a skater, or spectator (including family members) whose conduct is in violation of any policies, procedures, rules or protocols established by BWA. BWA also reserves the right to temporarily or permanently suspend, deny or revoke the privilege of any such person(s) to use BWA facilities or to enter upon BWA grounds.

ICE HALL PARENTS CODE OF CONDUCT

The Broadmoor World Arena (BWA) strives to offer an environment and atmosphere that is conducive to providing athletes and coaches the opportunity to maximize their training and performance.

A parent agrees to this by accepting the privilege of using the BWA facilities and understands that conduct in violation of this Code of Conduct or otherwise in violation of any policies, procedures, rules and protocols of BWA may result in full or partial forfeiture of skating privileges at BWA facilities.
